To whom it may concern,

I have been professionally associated with David de Bie for the past eight years. During that time we have worked on projects ranging from custom residences, to hotels and retail centers.

David is a very hands on contractor, being involved with all aspects from project inception through to final construction. He has demonstrated to me vast knowledge of the different building materials used in construction (wood, steel, concrete, and masonry).

I would highly recommend David and C & B Development as a general contractor for any project.

Sincerely,
HTK STRUCTURAL ENGINEERS
